

THE RICHMOND DISPATCH.

WHOLE NUMBER, 14,735.

RICHMOND, VA., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1898.

THREE CENTS PER COPY.

ACROSS TWO STATES.

Continuous Ovation To McKinley

in Indiana and Ohio.

THE PRESIDENT GRACIOUS.

He Appears at Every Point Where Crowds Await Him and Speaks.

ADDRESS AT INDIANAPOLIS

One of the Most Striking of His Tour.

War Inaugurated for Humanity—

It Must Not Stop Until It Embraces Humanity.

CINCINNATI, O., October 21.—One continuous ovation has marked the passage of President McKinley to-day over the States of Indiana and Ohio. Defying the wind and rain of a most disagreeable October day, the citizens of these States have congregated in great numbers at every station along the line, and never have they been disappointed, for the President graciously appeared at every point where crowds awaited his coming, to speak a few words to his constituents and receive their approving cheers.

Perhaps the most imposing demonstration of the day was at Indianapolis, where the streets through which the President was driven to the State House were jammed with cheering people. Here, on the steps of the State Capitol, almost within the shadow of the statue of Thomas A. Hendricks, the President delivered one of the most striking and eloquent addresses of his long western tour.

IN NO PARTY NAME.

Mr. McKinley said:

"My Fellow-Citizens—I thank you for this cordial and hearty greeting at the capital city of your great State. We meet in no party name; we meet in the name of the country, of patriotism, and of peace. (Great applause.) It gives me peculiar pleasure to meet the people of the city of the home residence of that illustrious statesman and predecessor of mine in the great presidential office, Benjamin Harrison (great applause), and I do not forget in this presence that this was the home of that other distinguished Indianian, Thomas A. Hendricks. (Grenuous applause.) Both names are remembered by all of you, and both have been distinguished in the service of their country."

"My fellow-citizens, we are here to-day because we love the old flag. (Applause and cheers.) It never went down in defeat; it was never raised in disonor. (W.H. applause.) It means more at this hour than it ever meant in all our history. It deats to-day where it never floated before. (Great applause.) Our victorious old banner, the same our grandfathers lifted up, and our fathers bore in many a battle; and what God has woven in his loom no man can break in twain. (Great applause and cheers.)

OBLIGATIONS OF VICTORY.

The war has been successful. It ended in less than a hundred days. Matchless victories were won on land and sea. Our army and navy are entitled to every honor that a generous people can bestow. (Great applause and cheers.) Our matchless army and fearless navy have done their part. The rest remains with us. The war was inaugurated for humanity; it must not stop until it embraces the world.

NO PHILIPPINE UNDERSTANDING.

An effort is being made here to create the impression that there is some understanding between the United States and Spain regarding the Philippine Islands.

Outside of the statements contained in the third article of the protocol, it can be asserted with confidence that no other understanding exists.

LAWS FOR SANTIAGO.

Code Proclaimed by General Wood—A Bill of Rights.

SANTIAGO, October 21.—General Leonard Wood, Military Governor pro tem. of the Department of Santiago, to-day issued a proclamation in ten sections, which is a sort of provisional declaration of independence.

The first article guarantees to the people the right of assembly for the common good, and to apply to those in power, by petition or remonstrance, for the redress of grievances.

The second section guarantees the right to worship God according to individual conscience, provided there is no interference with any existing form of worship.

The third section directs that courts of justice shall be open to all, and that no private property shall be taken by the government without compensation.

CRIMINAL TRIALS.

The fourth section, dealing with criminal trials, invests the accused with the right to be heard himself or by counsel, and to have compulsory process to secure the attendance of a witness in his behalf.

The fifth section says no person accused of crime shall be compelled to give evidence against himself.

The sixth section declares that no such person, who is once acquitted of the charge brought against him, shall be tried again for the same offence.

The seventh section provides that all persons charged with crime shall be entitled to bail, except in cases of capital offence, and that the writ of habeas corpus may not be suspended, except when the commanding general of the department deems it advisable.

The eighth section says that excessive bail shall not be required, and that no excessive, cruel, or unusual punishment shall be inflicted.

PRESUMPTION OF GUILT.

The ninth section provides that in order to secure the people against unreasonable search, there shall first be a warrant under oath, guaranteeing of guilt.

The tenth section guarantees to all property or print freely on any matter, subject to responsibility for abuse of the right.

The municipal laws are to be administered in accordance with this declaration of rights, subjects to modifications which, in the judgment of the commanding-general, will be beneficial, and promote the principles of enlightened civilization.

NATIONAL BANK CLOSED.

Cashier Has Not Been Seen Since Thursday Morning.

CLEVELAND, O., October 21.—A special from Lisbon, O., says: The First National Bank of this place was closed to-day by the directors. H. J. Childs, who has been the cashier for twenty years, has not been seen since yesterday morning. The bank examiners are in charge of the institution.

New Japanese Minister.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 21.—Minister Buck has informed the State Department that the Japanese Government has appointed Mr. Jutte Komura, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, to be Minister of Japan to the United States.

Mr. Komura was born in 1853, and studied law at Harvard University.

A DISASTROUS SALUTE.

Fatal Incident of President's Return-Premature Explosion.

CINCINNATI, October 21.—The firing of a canon in honor of the presidential visit at Kokomo was attended with disastrous results. James Jones being instantly killed by its premature explosion. Another was seriously injured and may die.

THE MOVE TO SAVANNAH.

Advance Guard of Lee's Corps in Georgia City.

SAVANNAH, GA., October 21.—One battalion of the Fourth Illinois Regiment, the advance provost guard, commanded by Major Langdon, accompanied by Mayor Russell B. Harrison, arrived here this morning. The movement of the Seventh Army Corps from Jacksonville to Savannah will follow rapidly. The Second South Carolina Regiment will reach here to-morrow morning, and the Ninth Illinois the first of next week. Fifteen thousand men will be in camp here by Wednesday.

WAR IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Heavy Fighting—Twenty Thousand Natives Attack Government Troops.

PRETORIA, October 21.—Serious trouble is brewing with the Magato tribe in the Zoutpansberg District, south of the Limpopo river. The natives recently massacred a Lutheran missionary and his family at the town of Zoutpansberg, and the Transvaal Government sent an expedition to punish the murderers. Chief Opeta, with 20,000 followers, fully armed, and four cannon, supplied by white traders, has attacked the laager. Heavy fighting is proceeding.

The ultimatum of the commanding officer of the Transvaal troops, General P. J. Joubert, demanding an unconditional surrender, has been ignored by the tribesmen, and he has summoned 3,000 burghers to reinforce the 5,000 now in the field.

The campaign promises to be prolonged.

The scene of the fighting between Transvaal burghers, under General Joubert, and the tribesmen, who follow Chief Opeta, is the extreme northern section of Transvaal territory, west of the Gaana country (Umeneland), and southeast of the country of the Matabele. It is in the very heart of a district inhabited by some of the bravest and most intrepid of South African tribesmen. Chief Opeta has long been a thorn in the side of the Transvaal. General Joubert, who is conducting the operations against the tribesmen, is Vice-President of the South African Republic, as well as commander-in-chief of the Transvaal army. He is one of the founders of the South African republic.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL MONDAY.

No Result Yet Reached by Peace Commission.

PARIS, October 21.—The joint session of the peace commissioners to-day lasted from 2 to 4:30 P. M. During this time the commissioners discussed the second series of written arguments put forward by the Spaniards for the purpose of prevailing upon the American commissioners to assume the Cuban debt. No definite conclusion was reached, and the commissioners adjourned until Monday, when the Cuban question will again be discussed. It is probable that this feature of the negotiations will be disposed of next week.

NO RESULT YET.

Thus far there have been seven joint sessions, four of which have been devoted to the discussion of the first article of the protocol. In this manner two weeks have passed and no result has been reached.

The American commissioners have listened to all the arguments of the Spaniards and have not changed the position which they first assumed in refusing to talk over the Cuban debt.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was conscious until the end, and fully realized his condition, and bade his family, with the exception of his daughter, was assembled around his bedside, good-by. His daughter arrived here just a few minutes after her father had passed.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.

Mr. Potts was the architect of his own fortune, and he was a most useful man to the community—one whose loss will be keenly felt. He was the head of the large wholesale grocery and importing house of Thomas Potts & Co., and up to almost the very last he attended to his business affairs. He was at his place of business, on Thirteenth street, on Monday, but left there that day for his home, from which he was removed the next day to the hospital to recover.